

BRILLIANT NUPTIALS

AT ALLENSVILLE LAST WEEK

Miss Marie Mahony, a former Stanford Girl, becomes bride of Rev. August F. Balbach

Alleysville, Ky., Nov. 30.—The most brilliant social event of the season was the wedding of Miss Marie Mahony and the Rev. August Francis Balbach, of Camden, N. J., which was solemnized here at the First Baptist church on Thursday evening at six o'clock in the presence of a large company of friends and relatives.

The church was artistically decorated with palms and ferns, studded with attractively arranged candelabra and holly used in profusion.

Rev. B. F. Hagan, of Trenton, was the officiating minister and before the ceremony, a musical program was rendered by Mrs. Walter Carvell, organist and Mrs. Hamill, who sang in her usual sweet and impressive manner, "I Love You Truly," and "Oh Promise Me." The bride party entered the church by Mendelssohn's wedding march, while Loebgren's was used as a recessional. Mrs. Carvell played the flower song very softly, during the ceremony.

The ushers Messrs. Thomas Lyne, Warren Walton, Charlie Gill and Frank Smith wore black suits and the groom and best man were dressed in Prince Alberts.

The bride's maids were Misses Elizabeth Walton, Annie Balbach and Olive Walton, wore reception dresses of blue cloth and carried pink carnations and maiden hair fern. The maid of honor, Miss Virginia Mahony, the bride's sister, in a brown costume with trimmings of green satin and lace, carried a beautiful bouquet of Killarney roses and ferns.

The bride was lovely in her exquisite wedding gown of blue velvet combined with imported lace and carried a white satin Bibbe from each end of which fell a shower of valley lilies. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, the Rev. R. B. Mahony, was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. A. G. Balbach, father of the groom.

Following the beautiful and impressive ring ceremony, the bridal party and a few intimate friends were entertained at the home of the bride. A tempting buffet luncheon was served. Rev. and Mrs. Balbach left on the evening train for a week's stay in Chicago and Minneapolis after which they will be at home at Long Prairie, Minn., where Rev. Balbach is pastor of the Baptist church. The bride's traveling costume was a stylish blue whipcord with hat to harmonize. A very large and handsome collection of wedding presents was received by the exceeding popular young couple, and their host friends extend to them their hearty congratulations.

IN HONOR OF BRIDE

Beautiful Entertainments Given For Miss Mahony Last Week

A friend at Alleysville sends the I. J. the following appreciated account of two beautiful affairs given in honor of Miss Marie Mahony, formerly of this city, whose wedding to Rev. August Balbach, was celebrated there last week:

Miscellaneous Shower

Misses Olive and Elizabeth Walton, entertained Tuesday afternoon with a miscellaneous shower, in honor of Miss Marie Mahony at their country home "Walton Manor", which was very attractive on this beautiful November afternoon.

The entire parlor floor was used for the entertainment and the decorations were unusually beautiful, consisting of chrysanthemums, red and white roses and plumosa. After being served to chocolate and wafers, we entered the first reception room and met Miss Mahony, Miss Virginia Mahony, Miss Balbach, Miss Elizabeth Walton. We then listened to a Victrola produce the most popular airs.

After a short time we entered the main parlor and awaited the appearance of Cupid, in the form of Master John Roberts Walton, bringing with him a large red heart on wheels filled to overflowing with presents for Miss Mahony. She was the happy recipient of many most beautiful gifts and displayed them, one by one and the hearts of her friends went out to her, as she stood before them, joyous in her possessions and spoke words of love and appreciation. She stood aside after having filled two tables with household attractions and belongings.

Among the most prized presents received was a solid silver salad fork, presented by the Ladies Aid Society of the Baptist church, secured by the efforts of Miss Small.

We were then taken into the dining room and seated. A large table was in center of the room, white and red roses formed the handsome centerpiece, silver candelabras were at corners of the table, filled with red candles. The ices and cakes were in red and white. The red ice was effectively decorated by Cupid in white, the white block cake, bore Miss Mahony's initials in red.

Red and white heart-shaped mints were served. The favors consisted of little white satin bags filled with rice.

Miss Mahony wore a blue velvet gown beautifully trimmed in lace, and large black hat with feathers.

Miss Walton wore pink chiffon hand painted, over pink, with lace trimmings.

Miss Elizabeth Walton wore mauve chaise trimmed with velvet and lace.

Miss Virginia Mahony wore dark blue cloth suit and green and blue hat.

Buffet Luncheon Party

Mrs. Thomas Pepper entertained at luncheon Monday from two to four at her home on Main street, Alleysville, Ky., in honor of Miss Marie Mahony.

The occasion was one of the most brilliant of the season. The library and drawing room were filled with the friends of Mrs. Pepper's and Miss Mahony's.

What shall we say of Miss Mahony whom we have learned to love? She has measured up to our standard of womanly dignity and honor, nor has she been found wanting in any trust reposed in her and now that woman's crowning blessing has come—The love of a brave and chivalrous man—we shall still believe her able to meet worthily the conditions of the new life. And he must be worthy since she has chosen.

The feature of the afternoon was a contest conducted by Mrs. J. J. Hardin and Mrs. Walter Carvell. The questions were read and the answers gotten from music rendered on piano.

A Religious Romance.

(The Meeting)
Marie Mahony was a religious girl and loved to go to church.

And one day at the protracted meeting in Stanford her eyes began to search.

The men who filled the benches and the ladies by their sides.

And near the pulpit sat August Balbach in all his manhood pride.

And it was a large crowd to hear J. C. Daniels preach.

Christ and love and God above and the people to teach.

J. returned to the jail here Sunday night about 9 o'clock weary and hungry, and asked Judge Farmer to take him in, that he was tired of dodging the officers and had resolved to serve out his sentence and become a better man. The penalty for breaking jail is confinement in the penitentiary but it is not likely that the charge will be pushed against Burleson, especially if he shows a disposition to reform and make a good prisoner while he is paying the penalty for his past lawless career.

BECKHAM ANNOUNCES

FOR U. S. SENATE

In Response to Demand that Democracy Be Allowed to Fulfill Its Pledges

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 29.—The formal announcement of former Gov. J. C. W. Beckham that he will be a candidate before the Democrats of Kentucky in the August, 1913, State primary election, for the nomination for United States Senator to succeed William O. Bradley, was made here today.

That Gov. Beckham would ask the people of Kentucky to restore to him an honor bestowed by them at polls and then denied in the halls of the General Assembly, has been known for some weeks to those closest to him here. Kentucky news paper editors, Democratic and Republican, have been calling upon him to announce as a candidate, voicing the sentiment of pretty nearly every community in the state, and he has received hundreds of letters, quite a number of them from influential men who have opposed his political aspirations in the past, declaring that he should have no opposition to succeed Senator Bradley.

The announcement reads as follows:

In answer to a great many inquiries I feel that I should, without further delay, make known my purpose in regard to the approaching race for the United States senatorship, for which a Democratic nomination is to be made in the state primary next August. Following my retirement from the office of Governor about five years ago and the result of the senatorial election in the General Assembly of 1908, it was not my intention to again seek public office. Eight years of arduous and difficult service as Governor, frequently dealing with serious and critical questions, had prepared me to welcome and enjoy the relief from public responsibilities and the peace of private life which such retirement offered me.

But from the people and the press of the State I have received so many kind and flattering assurances that I might as a Senator from Kentucky be of some useful public service, and gratefully appreciating the honor implied by such expressions, I have decided to become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for that office in the primary next August, and to submit my candidacy to the Democratic voters of the state.

I believe that the people of Kentucky have known me long enough and well enough to judge by what principles and purposes I have all ways been influenced in my public life, and how well or ill I have met every responsibility or obligation confronting me. I have been frank with them at all times, frequently when I believed it to be to my personal disadvantage, and I have never let them remain in doubt about my position upon any important political subject.

So upon the issues now prominent before the country the people of Kentucky well know how I stand and what my course of action would be if I should be elected to the Senate. I am in hearty accord with the principles of the platform of the Baltimore convention, and it would be my endeavor as a member of the Senate, without ostentation or display, to earnestly and efficiently assist President Wilson and his Administration in fulfilling the promises made to the people in that platform and in the recent campaign.

The verdict of the American people in the recent national election was unmistakable and emphatic. They voted for a definite change in certain policies of the Government, the restoration of its control to the people, the dethronement of the power of special interests, relief from the burdens of tariff taxes and tributes, the overthrow of monopoly in our industries, the readjustment of the functions of Government to serve the masses of the people rather than those favored classes which have fattened upon special privileges, and for other just and needed reforms outlined in the Democratic programme. However much we may rejoice over the recent result at the polls, our victory is not yet won, and will not be won, until we have substantially fulfilled these expectations of the people of enacting into laws the promises we have made. It is evident that the admirable man whom we have elected President recognizes the solemnity of the obligations placed upon him in these matters and is essential for the success of his Administration that should have in the Senate as well as in the House, to aid him in keeping faith with the people, men who are in cordial sympathy with his policies and men who are willing and capable of finishing successfully the work to be begun.

I seek this position as Senator from my native State not merely with any selfish consideration of the honor it may bring me, but for the broad opportunity it would afford me of rendering some useful and patriotic service to the people of the country. I believe that I have had such experience and training as would make me reasonably well prepared for the work. I do not come before the people of Kentucky in this race unknown to or untried by them. In my public career in the past they have had ample opportunities to determine whether or not I can be trusted with official responsibilities, or whether or not I am accustomed to redeem my promises and obligations to them.

Upon their sound judgment and generous confidence I rest my candidacy for this high office, seeking their support if they believe me worthy of it and advising them to vote for some other man if they believe he can more faithfully and successfully serve them.

STATE BANK CORN SHOW

A DECIDED SUCCESS

Pronounced by Prof. Smith to be Second Best Exhibit in State—Many Farmers Attend

The corn show given Saturday afternoon by the State Bank & Trust Co., of Stanford, brought out least 150 farmers from all sections of the county and considerable interest was manifested in the lecture by Prof. Wallace V. Smith, of the Kentucky experiment station at Lexington. He was introduced to the assembly by Prof. J. W. Ireland, who called attention to the fact that the agricultural spirit was growing in the state and showed by statistics that 84 per cent of the children who are now in school are from the farm. Smith is quite a young man but his lecture and the accuracy with which he judged the exhibits showed beyond a doubt that he is familiar with his duties and his decisions gave general satisfaction. He paid Lincoln county farmers the compliment of having raised the best corn he had seen outside the county of Jefferson and which was exhibited at the Louisville corn show last week. This speaks volumes of praise as he has been judging corn shows at many Kentucky towns and cities. His lecture was replete with good sound reasoning and gave the farmers some new and valuable ideas. No rule he said could be laid down for the raising of the cereal as much depended upon the land, the chief thing to be ascertained is what properties the land is deficient in. He could not, for lack of time, go into detail as to how to find out what those deficiencies might be, but told his audience that the experiment station at Lexington would send free of charge to any applicant a treatise on nearly every phase of agriculture.

The bank offered four premiums—$5 for the best single ear, of white corn. This was awarded to B. W. Givens, who raised it on his farm at Hubble. Prof. Smith pronounced this ear of corn to be the most perfect one he had ever judged and advised Mr. Givens to send it to the National Corn Show at Columbia, South Carolina in January 1913. The award for the best 12 ears of white corn went to W. R. Gaines of Walnut Flat. It was worth $7.50 and was also pronounced excellent. The second award for the best dozen ears of white was given to Thos. A. Rice. It was worth $5 and was raised by Mr. Rice on his rich blue grass farm on the Stanford and Danville pike. J. Frank Smith captured the award for the best dozen ears of yellow corn, worth $2.50. Mr. Smith raised the display on his place on the cut off pike between Stanford and Shelby City. There were 36 entries in the single ear contest, won by Mr. Givens; 37 in the show for the best dozen ears, won by Mr. Gaines. The five salient points on which the judge based the awards were 1st uniformity of exhibit; 2nd shape of ear; 3rd length of ear; 4th circumference of ear, 5th tips of ears and soundness of kernel.

Cashier M. B. Salin, of the State Bank and Trust Co., who promoted the show, has the thanks and commendation of every one interested in such matters. He devoted much time to it and like everything else he undertakes, he made a success of his efforts.

Restore His Nomination

Candidates for United States Senator are almost as thick as applicants for post office in any county town since the election. Many good men are being "mentioned," but its dollars to doughnuts that the people insist that Mr. Beckham's property will be restored unto him.—Danville Messenger.

A Record Log

The largest log that ever went out of Adair county was hauled to Campbellsville last week by J. N. Atwell, Vester Deal and John Young. The tree was cut on a farm owned by one of the Tupman boys, lying on Green river. The cut hauled weighed 22,083 pounds and contained 22,028 feet of lumber. It was hauled by twelve horses, hooked to an old Hickory wagon bought by Mr. Atwell from the Buchanan Lyon Company, Campbellsville. The cut belonged to Mr. Whitney, the well-known lumber man. The team and its load was a great attraction as it entered Campbellsville and also to many people while en route.—Adair County News.

Editor Alverson, of the Anderson News, tries to make it appear that papers which are advising Gov. McCreary not to make the race for Senator, are not his friends. As the I. J. has offered the Governor this gratuitous advice, we suppose we come in the category. Now, we think, otherwise, however. Time and again during his canvass for election, we heard our friend, the governor, declare that he desired only to round out his splendid career in the governor's chair, and would never ask the people of Kentucky for office again. Because we remind him of his solemn pledge and express the sincere hope that our confidence in his word will not be misplaced, is no indication that we are not his friend. Indeed, we think our position is more indicative of loyal and sincere friendship, than the position of those who are seeking to have him violate his solemn promise to the people when they elected him governor. Just ponder on this a while.

If Owsley Stanley should win the nomination for senator in the popular primary, he would expect the legislature to fulfill the pledge made by the people, wouldn't he? Beckham won the party's nomination; but was defeated in the legislature through treachery. Stanley might face the same situation some time. It seems to us it's up to Stanley to look at this phase of the question, and keep out this time. Somebody please call his attention to this.

Scottish suffragettes threw shoes at a judge who was trying one of their number. Wonder if this is a sample of what may be expected when the dear ladies get to voting all over this country?

Perkins put up his money to nominate and try to elect Roosevelt, and now that he's not needed, some of the radical Progressives want to make him go way back and sit down.

OIL HEATER

is the result of years of scientific study and experimentation. It is today the most efficient and yet the most economical heating device obtainable.

The Perfection Heater burns nine hours on one gallon of oil. A simple, automatic device prevents smoking. Easy to clean and re-wick. It is ornamental (nickel trimmings, with plain steel or enameled turquoise-blue drums). Inexpensive. Lasts for years.

A MESSAGE

To Feeble Old People.

As one grows old the waste of the system becomes more rapid than repair, the organs act more slowly and less effectively than in youth, the circulation is poor, the blood thin and digestion weak.

Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil, is the ideal strengthener and body-builder for old folks, for it contains the very elements needed to rebuild wasting tissues and replace weakness with strength. Vinol also fortifies the system against colds and thus prevents pneumonia.

A grandniece of Alexander Hamilton, over eighty years of age, once remarked: "Vinol is a godsend to old people. Thanks to Vinol, I have a hearty appetite, sleep soundly, feel active and well. It is the finest tonic and strength-creator I have ever used."

If Vinol fails to build up the feeble old people, and create strength, we will return your money. Penny's Drug Store, Stanford, Ky.

CARDUI WORKED LIKE A CHARM

After Operation Failed to Help, Cardui Worked Like a Charm.

Jonesville, S. C.—"I suffered with womanly trouble," writes Mrs. J. S. Kendrick, in a letter from this place, "and at times, I could not bear to stand on my feet. The doctor said I would never be any better, and that I would have to have an operation, or I would have a cancer."

I went to the hospital, and they operated on me, but I got no better. They said medicines would do me no good, and I thought I would have to die.

At last I tried Cardui, and began to improve, so I continued using it. Now, I am well, and can do my own work. I don't feel any pains.

Cardui worked like a charm. There must be merit in this purely vegetable, tonic remedy, for women—Cardui—for it has been in successful use for more than 50 years, for the treatment of womanly weakness and disease.

Please try it, for your troubles. N. B.—Write for Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Special Instructions, and 64-page book, "Home Treatment for Women," sent in plain wrapper, on request.

Bach Club Entertains

Music lovers, of Stanford, spent another delightful afternoon with the Bach Club out at the Graded school auditorium on Wednesday, Nov. 27. These enjoyable affairs are always anticipated with great pleasure, and especial interest and patriotic pride was taken in the program of the afternoon devoted, as it was to a study of our own musicians. The compositions rendered represented unusual student achievement, and pointed toward brilliant careers for the members of the club, who may diligently and faithfully develop the talents so generously entrusted to them. Such a variety of interpretation and execution is seldom found in a school organization of this kind and Miss Ballou, whose work is too well known to need comment, should have the ardent cooperation not alone of the music lovers, of Stanford, but of those who, through a civic pride should lend their interest and encouragement to an influence, so uplifting to the community as the Bach Club.

How to Succeed

During the last few years, conditions in all lines of business, every professional life, have changed so completely that every man is waking up to the fact that in order to win success he must specialize and learn to do some one thing and do it well.

So it is with any article that is sold to the people. It must have genuine merit or no amount of advertising will maintain the demand for the article.

For many years we have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy. From the very beginning the proprietors had so much confidence in it that they invited every one to test it, free of cost, before purchasing.

It is a physician's prescription. They have on file thousands of letters received from former sufferers who are now enjoying good health as a result of its use.

However if you wish first to try a sample bottle, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. and mention this paper. They will gladly forward you a sample bottle by mail absolutely free.

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 30, 1912.—The continued dry harsh weather caused the offerings of tobacco on our market this week to be very small, only 106,995 pounds being sold with about the same range of prices prevailing as during the opening week.

All of the manufacturers and other buyers were taking some of the tobacco and seemed eager to make purchases, but, on account of the small sales, none of them were getting hardly enough tobacco to open and start their plants. We feel as soon as a good handling season prevails the buyers will take the tobacco more freely and probably at some better prices.

The Export Tobacco Company, who are large manufacturers and buyers for foreign trade, made their appearance during the week on our market and were very free bidders and purchasers and this Company's representation on the Lexington market will certainly prove a big benefit to this market and enable the sellers who patronize only the Lexington market to realize better prices for their crops than those who patronize some of the small markets where only a few of the manufacturers are represented.

It behooves the grower of tobacco to offer his tobacco for sale on the market that has the most extensive representation of all the buying trade throughout the world, and on account of the particular location of Lexington, being in the heart of the Burley district, the manufacturers throughout the world have settled on Lexington as the one place that they are represented.
